

I am writing to express my extreme concern with the blatant partisan and ideologic-based activities of Sinclair Broadcasting corporation. Their decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation and of the need for equal air time in regards to subjects of high social importance.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. But when large companies control the airwaves, we get more of what's good for the bottom line and less of what we need for our democracy. Instead of something produced at "News Central" far away, it's more important that we see real people from our own communities and more substantive news about issues that matter.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you for your time, and I hope your decision is based on public need and is not unduly influenced by pressures from wealthy media conglomerates.
